

Poultry

Definitions

AORC Any other recognised colour

AORV Any other recognised variety

- Food, water containers and cages are provided.
- Entries entered in the wrong class cannot be judged. Assistance with class identification may be obtained by contact with the steward, however final responsibility rests with the exhibitor, no responsibility will be accepted for incorrect entries.
- The steward reserves the right to reject or remove exhibits, based on their own opinion or on veterinary advice, that are suspected of being diseased or ill.
- All exhibits must be individually inspected by the stewards prior to being entered in the cages, no bird may be removed without a steward in attendance.
- An exhibit can only be entered in one class.
- Exhibitors will be permitted to be present at the time of judging at the discretion of the judge.
- Judging will commence at 9am on Thursday, 1st of July 2021.
- All exhibits shall be entered at own risk.
- Sale of birds is permitted. A “for sale” notice with the name, contact of the seller and the price on a plain, white piece of cardboard can be placed on the cage any time after judging. Onus for all arrangement’s rests with the seller and no responsibility shall be accepted by CASS.
- A limited number of day-old chickens will be available for sale at the Show.
- Birds must have been owned by exhibitor for at least 2 months.
- Any breach of the Show Society Rules or Regulations or any of the above, shall result in immediate disqualification and forfeiture of awards, money and possible prohibition from future exhibiting.
- No late entries accepted.
- Birds not delivered during delivery times will not be judged.

Animal Welfare

Competitors and participants at any event run by CASS have a responsibility to ensure the welfare of their animals and at all time to treat their animals humanely and with dignity, respect and compassion. Competitors and participants are to conduct themselves in a professional manner and act with integrity in all dealings. All competition events must comply with the Animal Welfare standards of their governing body.